

APPLICATIONS OF BROADBAND MEDIA AND POSITION SENSING PHONES

Abstract of Disclosure

A cellular telephone is used as a remote control device to control operations on the users nonportable computer which is remote location to the cellular telephone. The user can carry out various operations on the cellular telephone which cause the remote computer to take some additional action.

Figures